SECTION "B"
[8Q. × 5 = 40 marks]

Answer ANY EIGHT questions diligently. You are expected to treat each answer as a formal document. All questions carry equal marks.

1. Develop a new ending for Anton Chekhov's "Enemies" that resolves the conflict between the two main characters in a unique and unexpected way, and justify how this ending enhances the themes and messages of the story.
2. Explain how Gloria Anzaldua's experiences with language and cultural identity are portrayed in "How to Tame a Wild Tongue" and how these experiences inform her views on the power dynamics of language in a society.
3. Present your Remembering and applying of the following piece of text.

The difficulties and confusion of my teenage years inspired me to want to learn about history when I grew older. I feel very fortunate to have lived long enough to learn about the history of U.S. racism and American women's and people of color's struggles for equality and social justice, which helped me better understand the circumstances of my teenage years, what happened to me, and why I responded as I did. Learning about the history of the U.S.'s involvement in Korea helped me understand why my parents came to a country that treated U.S.-born Korean Americans like me as foreigners.

It may be just as possible for a person's goals and ideas to be forged in difficulties and challenges as in comfort and happiness. So maybe the fortune-telling numerologist was right about my teenage years shaping my life's goals and ideas. These experiences may have stimulated me to work to educate people against racism and sexism. This work has helped me better understand myself and appreciate others.
